The story of 1947 eatery

Our story begins during the British Raj with Thomas Alter a keen explorer who travelled the depths of India to gather culinary treasures. During his travels, he collected recipes from the bustling streets of Delhi, the bazaars of Hyderabad, the shores of Goa, right through to the melting pot of Bombay.

As India woke up to independence in 1947, Thomas migrated with nothing but his collection of recipes in tow searching for a new adventure and descended to the land of the long white cloud - Aotearoa.

In 2016, during the construction boom of Auckland CBD, three friends discovered a buried notebook in Federal street under a construction site. The pages described an Imperial India like no other as Tom's penned recipes came to life. They knew they had stumbled across a hidden gem.

1947 eatery is a result of Tom's lifelong love of India's exotic flavours, diverse recipes and hidden treasures. Come with us on a journey back to 1947.

WILD SCENES OF JUBILATION IN DELHI

From Our Special Representative

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 14. ENTIRE DELHI KEPT AWAKE TO WITNESS THE HISTORIC EVENT OF USHERING IN THE FREEDOM OF INDIA AT THE HOUR OF MIDNIGHT.

Unprecedented scenes of enthusiasm were witnessed both inside and outside the Constituent Assembly Chamber, where seething, scyoping humanity wildly cheered the momentous event, heralded with the blowing of conches.

Raising to the height of the occasion, Pandit Nehru made a speech in the Assembly which was at once notable and a masterpiece of literature.

"Years ago we made a tryst with destiny," he said, "and now the time comes when we shall redeem our pledge not wholly or in full measure, but very substantially. At the stroke of the midnight hour, when the world sleeps, India will awake to life and freedom."

With becoming humility, Pandit Nehru reminded the House that freedom and power bring responsibility and that the future is not one of ease or resting but of incessant striving, so that we may fulfil the pledges we have so often taken and the one we shall take today.

Choudhury Kalicharan, leader of the Muslim League group, in a warm speech, wholeheartedly supported the motion moved by Pandit Nehru for the adoption of the pledge and assured "faithful and loyal" cooperation of the Muslims of India in implementing the pledge of dedication.

Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, the noted philosopher, supporting Pandit Nehru's motion, said that the new era in the Indian body politic and urged that every Indian at this hour should pledge to work for the society of corruption and intolerance and took the occasion to say a solemn tribute to the rule of British and British Parliament bringing to...

THE national flag was hoisted over the 74-year-old Bombay Civil Secretariat at midnight when the citizens of Bombay greeted the dawn of Independence with solemn invocation and frenzied rejoicing.

"Citizens of free India—you are now free," said the Prime Minister, Mr. B. G. Kher, in raising the flag at the midnight ceremony, which was attended by all Ministers and departmental heads and employees of the Bombay Government.

At midnight lights over Bombay's public buildings made the Gateway of India a city of light and beauty. Floodlighting was effectively employed to illuminate all the buildings of the railway terminal and hundreds of other edifices, new and old.
